

María Socorro Suárez Lafuente is currently retired as Professor of English Literature and Literatures in English at the University of Oviedo, Spain. Her interests lie in the field of Contemporary Literature, Feminism and Critical Theory. She has published extensively on those fields, and has been co-editor of several books and journal issues. She is the author of a book on contemporary literature, a second one on ethics and literature and a recent one on the development of the Faust theme. She is founding member of the ESSE Gender Studies Network, and of the European Network of Dialogue Process Facilitators. She was president of the Spanish Association of Anglo-American Studies and of the Spanish Association of University Women and is Fellow of the English Association. Email: lafuente@uniovi.es. ORCID: 0000-0003-2631-8861.